On March 23, 2011, the Criminal Defense Lawyers of Davis & Associates, PLLC secured the dismissal of a felon in possession of a weapon case where the client was facing up to life in prison. Charged as a habitual offender, the lowest plea offer prosecutors made to the client was 16 years. The court appointed attorney who represented the client (before our Criminal Defense Lawyers took over the case) requested a competency evaluation when the client refused to take the 16 year deal. She told him that he “must be crazy.”

Our criminal defense firm took over the case and began our own criminal investigation. Our investigation uncovered documents which proved that the gun and the car where the gun was found both belonged to someone else. Additionally, our criminal defense lawyers obtained a video-taped statement from the key witness in the State’s case, who stated that most of the allegations previously made were untrue. This information was presented to the prosecutors handling the case and they dismissed all charges. Our Criminal Defense Lawyers secured the client’s freedom without a trial.
